Criteria

The below prizes are designed to give thanks and recognition to individuals who have given years of dedicated service to the Students' Union and to the life of the Medical School. Honorary awards may be given to exceptional individuals who are not registered members of the Union. They are generally, but not exclusively, reserved for final year students.

- ICSM Colours are awarded to individuals highly involved in ICSM clubs and societies, the Students' Union, academic and pastoral representation, who are well rounded and who repeatedly turn up and support the work of others.
- ICSM Outstanding Service Awards are awarded to individuals who have, in addition to the requirements for Colours, repeatedly gone above and beyond their role to enhance the life of ICSM.

Choosing the Winners

Only School of Medicine students can nominate individuals to win these awards. Any student within the School of Medicine may nominate and be nominated for an award:

- Nominations should be open for at least 2 weeks (normally longer).
- Nominations should be made in writing to the ICSMSU President or their nominee.
- Students may not nominate themselves.

Once the nomination period has closed, the Colours Committee should convene within a few weeks before the awards are given out. The Colours Committee should consist of:

- The ICSMSU President
- The ICSMSU President-elect
- At least 3 members of the ICSMSU Executive Committee
- At least 2 members of staff within the Faculty of Medicine
- At least 1 member of the ICSM Alumni Association Executive Committee

The decision of the Colours Committee is final. The colours committee may choose the number of awards which are given out and to whom they are given. Not all the awards need to be given out every year.

Affiliated Prizes

ICSM Alumni Prize

The ICSM Alumni Prize is a separate prize, which has been created with the intention of highly commending a member of the medical school whilst increasing the awareness of ICSM Alumni to past and present students. The prize should be an award that recognises the impact an individual has had in increasing the positive awareness of ICSM beyond the ICSM community. The criteria for those nominated should illustrate:

- Participation in local, national or international bodies. These may include activities that are: political, social, medical, educational, or contributing to the arts.
- Dedication to voluntary or community based projects undertaken as an ICSM representative, which draw positive attention to the medical school.
- To be given to an individual who may not necessarily have been prominent within the medical school but who has nevertheless contributed greatly to positive awareness of ICSM.

The Colours Committee will provide recommendations for this prize to the Executive Committee of the ICSM Alumni Association.

The ICSM Alumni Prize will also be presented at the ICSM Summer Ball and winners will be given a certificate, signed by the ICSMSU President and a senior member of the Faculty of Medicine, and a gift from the ICSM Alumni Association.

Dr Stephen Norton Memorial Prize

The Stephen Norton Memorial Prize is an external award that commemorates the life of Dr Stephen Norton, who was a student, houseman and S.H.O at Charing Cross from 1966 to 1973. Stephen died in January 2008 and the prize has been awarded ever since then.

The fund donates £500 per annum to the medical school's hardship fund, to which Stephen already contributed and £500 per annum to a deserving final year student who most exemplifies Stephen's all-round qualities. This fund is made possible by the generosity of Stephen's friends and colleagues in recognition of an all-rounded student.

The Colours Committee will provide recommendations (with their attached nominations) for this prize to the Trustees of the Stephen Norton Memorial Fund, who will make the final decision on a deserving winner.

The Dr Stephen Norton Memorial Prize winner will normally be presented at the annual ICSM Affirmation Ceremony by one of the fund's trustees.
