

National QIP: The Octopus Study

Improving medical students understanding Of post-foundation applications

Recruiting for Medical School Leads!!!

Benefits of Applying:

- Certification saying contributed to data collection on a national QI project
- Chance to develop research skills
- Enhance your leadership skills
- Good networking opportunity
- Be the first to be made aware of future research opportunities via the mailing list

Roles and Responsibilities:

- To promote the study through social media, personal contacts and via their university to help the study gain survey respondents
- To recruit year leads from your medical school and contribute towards reaching out to potential participants of the survey/study as a team
- Establish a platform for communication with year leads within your medical school (such as a WhatsApp or Facebook group)
- Keep in close contact with the central team and give regular updates on recruitment progress and overall performance of your medical school in the study

If you have further questions, please feel free to contact us at:

theoctopus.study@gmail.com